Georg is the vice-president of ICT4D.at. Active as an artist and graphic designer, he is currently exploring his passion for radio and comics. Chloé is trained as an architect with a research-oriented specialization on the topic of Smart City.

About the Nimble Buildins Days
The «Nimble Building Days» have been a series of events to support the ones who were forced to leave their homes behind. The people who received shelter are living in temporary refugee houses like the former Kurierhaus Lindengasse. They lacked infrastructure like free Internet access and the overall atmosphere of the rooms is rather spare. The goal was to improve the situation by making the living space more beautiful and simply have fun by working together.

About ICT4DMZ
Between 2012 and 2014 the project ICT-4DMZ was implemented under the title "Strengthening universities' capacities for improved access, use and application of ICT for social development and economic growth in Mozambique". Our endeavour supported implementing new IT infrastructure and improving teaching, learning, research and gender equality at the Informatics Department. We carried out lectures, supported Márcia Juvane (PhD in Vienna), trained staff, developed an Android application and are still well connected to our friends at the UEM.

DEVELOPING DIGITAL SKILLS IN GHANA
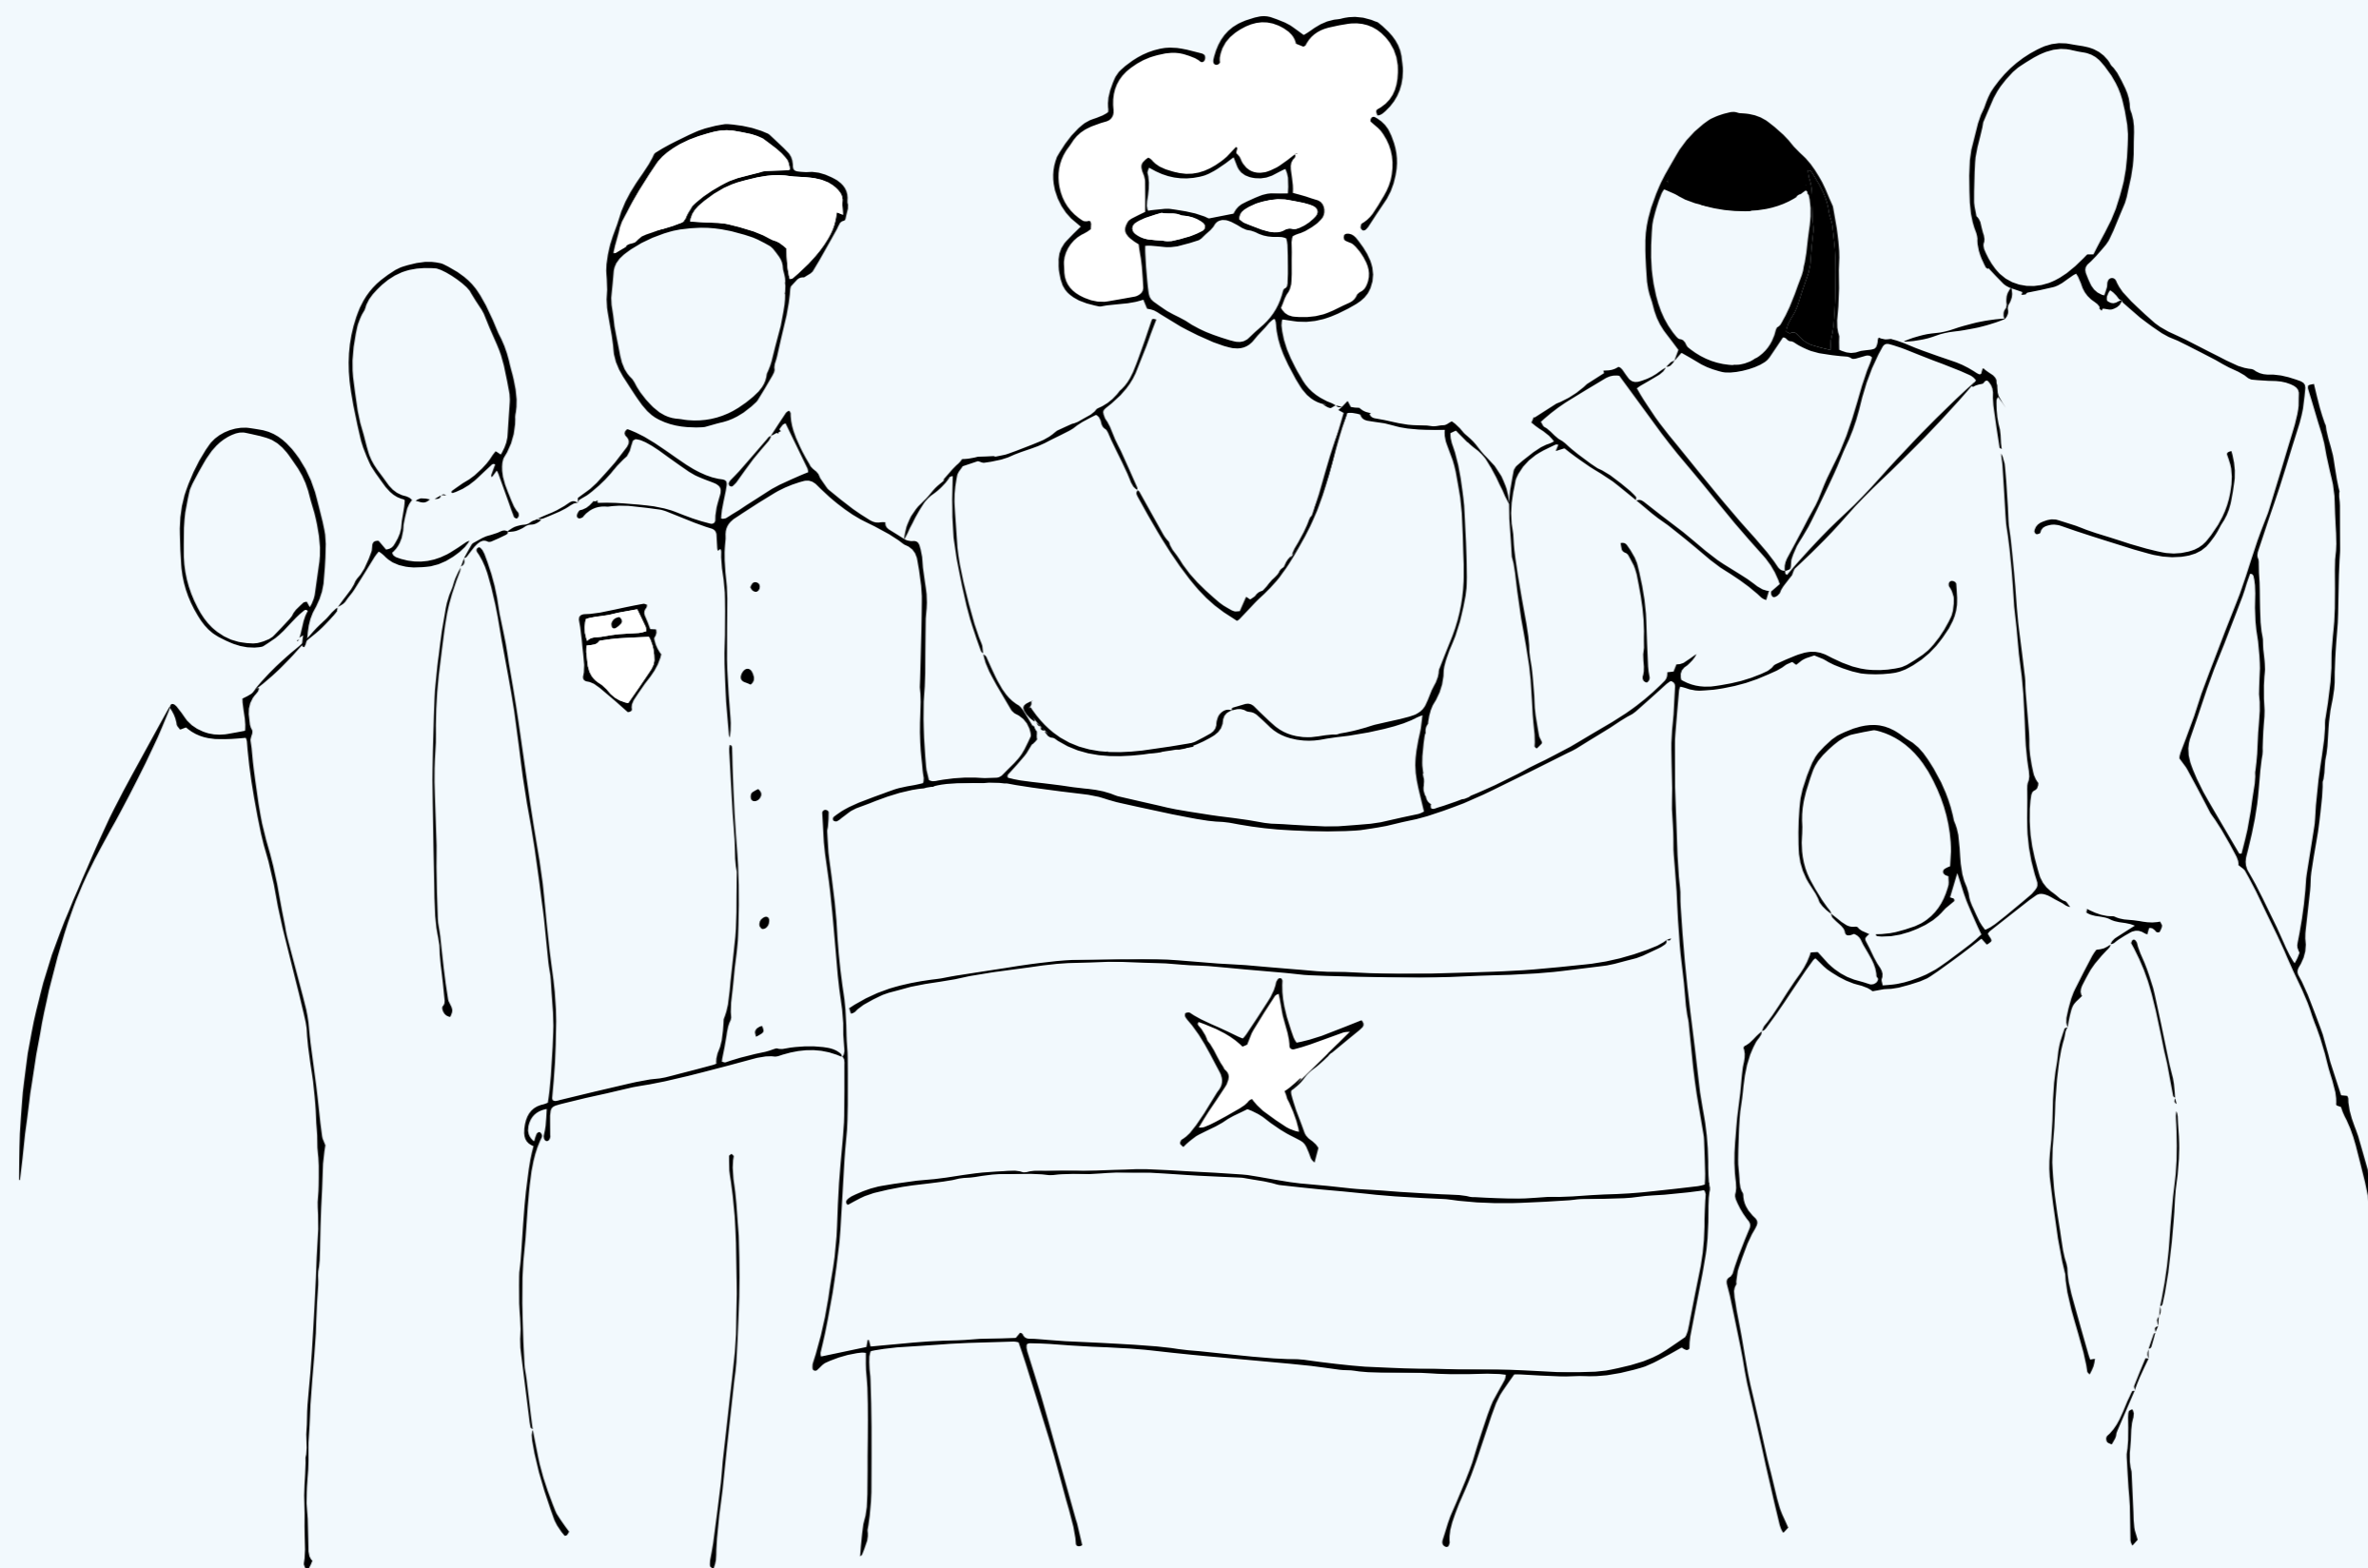

DIGITAL MEDIA TRAINING FOR TEACHERS IN GHANA

ICT4D.at celebrates 10 years of collaborations

The project was presented at UNESCO
MOBILE LEARNING WEEK 2018 in Paris.

Location: Ghana
Year: 2012 – 2014
Partners:
Keta Senior High Technical School

ICT4D.at members involved
Margarete, Michael, Wolfgang and Worlarli

About the project
Our in-service training for teachers in digital media skills in public schools in Ghana at Keta Senior High Technical School started in August & September 2012 in Keta, Ghana. The name says it all – it is about training teachers on digital literacy and how to use IT in their daily work.

Digital skills are door-openers for partaking in sustainable development efforts by offering continuous access to world-wide information and learning opportunities. We are stunned by the diverse offspring of the project: The Mobile Learning Society was founded, blogs were started, desktop applications were developed and Noah, back then a student, is now one of our most active members.

HELLO AFRICAUSTRIA

HELLO AFRICA DOCUMENTARY

ICT4D.at celebrates 10 years of collaborations

Location: various African countries
Year: 2009 to the premiere at Schikaneder on 8. 5. 2009

ICT4D.at members involved
Martin K., Martin T., Anders

About the project
Hello Africa is the title of a documentary that illustrates cellphone culture in Africa. It shows images of contemporary Africa with focus on people's lifestyles, popular culture, habits, activities and opinions in the context of mobile technology usage.

The movie portraits individuals from all society: teachers, athletes, vendors, watchmen, musicians and many more. They all have in common that they are connected and have unique stories to tell. Contrasts, strong visuals and a cool soundtrack presents this theme and, in a broader sense, aims to raise the awareness of the ICT4D movement.

Stories / fun facts:
The video was shown at several festivals and exhibitions:
· Austrian TV station OKTO (June 2010)
· NOW festival in Barcelona (March 2010)
· Accra, Ghana, at the Maker Faire Africa event (August 2009)
· festival event called May You Live in Interesting Times, in Cardiff, Wales (October 2009)

We are displaying the movie tonight on the video wall. Enjoy!
And the movie is online at Vimeo with more than 38 000 views:

About Zanzicode
Zanzicode provides free education in the field of Web Development to a small number of talented and motivated students of poor background in Zanzibar, Tanzania.

Our goal is to help building the personal careers of our graduates as well as to kickstart a local web development community. Our work has proven that there is both talent and a demand for professional web work in Zanzibar. Graduates of the Zanzicode class are meant to act as multiplicators in this emerging market. They will help to strengthen the flow of information and enable the interaction between Zanzibar and the rest of the world through the web.
